

M'DANIEL TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Defense Ends Case by Introducing Son of Defendant.

Indicted Prosecutor Gives His Version of Events the Night of the Murder—Introduction of State's Rebuttal Testimony Will Begin

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 29.—The defense of Oscar D. McDaniels, prosecutor of Buchanan county, who is on trial in the criminal court here on the charge of having murdered Mrs. Harriet Moss McDaniels, his wife, closed late today and court adjourned until Friday when the introduction of the state's rebuttal testimony will commence.

"I did not," McDaniel answered.

touch upon the threatening letters he told of having received before Mrs. McDaniel was murdered. Twice, during the cross-examination Attorney General Barker referred to them but

Mr. McDaniel gave his version of the events the night of the murder, July 14th. This was that he had left his home about 7:45 p. m. to go to lodge but had left there about an hour later to watch two road houses concerning which complaint had made in September of 1915 and again in April, McDaniel said, but had not previously been investigated. He returned to his home about eleven o'clock according to his story, talked to his wife who had retired and left fifteen or twenty minutes later to answer a telephone call that said his brother was in trouble in a saloon. He found the call untrue, he said, went to two other saloons and returned home about midnight.

he engaged in a pistol duel outside the house and then went into the house to get another weapon. He heard "foot steps thru the weeds," which he supposed to have been his and the house he found his wife had been attacked and was lying in a "pool of blood."

The prosecuting attorney questioned him at length upon the burning of a mattress from his wife's bed the morning his wife died. Mr. McDaniel said he had attached little importance to it as "he presumed police officers had obtained all the evidence possible."

The cross-examination ended when Mr. Barker drew from the witness that he carried life insurance policies obtaining $439 upon the life of Mrs. McDaniel. McDaniel testified he had spent more than this amount in attempting to find her murderer.

REQUEST PEORIA POLICE TO SEARCH FOR WARNE.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 29.—Search was begun here today for Richard Warne, 38, reform politician and candidate for the office of police magistrate of Cicero, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, following requests for aid from relatives made to the police here. Warnke, who came to Peoria Saturday from Batch, Ill., where he had been hunting in company with William Sebald, also of Cicero, has been missing since that night. Sebald, instead of reporting the disap-

To further strengthen the theory of suicide, a sister-in-law, of Warnke's, Mrs. A. W. Warnke, 4546 West 22nd street, Chicago, is said to have received a letter from him which said he never would return to Cicero, and "when you next find me, I will be in a different world."

Yes, it is that same old demand and supply that brings the high prices. In Baltimore yesterday the prices for turkeys dropped from 35 cts. to 20 cts. in a few hours time, just because the people would not take them at the higher figure and were contenting themselves with rabbits and beef.

All Divinely Led.
The scolding in England will be loud and long when they hear over there that Emperor William's Christmas gift to Pope Benedict will be a Bible, magnificently illuminated and bound. Strange it is from the view point of the rest of the world that the monarchs and leaders of opposing sides in this great war all continue to feel that they are divinely led and that in the end they must prevail because God is on their side. We must credit them with sincerity, but sooner or later one or the other must find that "the Lord is not with them" and that instead of divine leadership ambition, greed and cruelty have ruled.

Swift Justice
As the result of an accident at Sandusky, Ohio, last July, William Nottingham brought suit against the Great Lakes Steamship Co., for $6,000. When the case was called in court attorneys for the defendant admitted the claim and paid the sum demanded, the whole proceeding lasting not more than half an hour. It was a fine example of justice done speedily and stands out in bold contrast to the vexatious delays which all too often mark court proceedings in the United States and thus bring merited criticism from older countries. This was a case where a man had a just claim and the defendant company was willing to pay this claim.

Spectators in the Morgan county circuit court room during this term have seen more than one case consume hours of valuable time and run up expenses for the county amounting to ten or twenty times that involved in the controversy between the parties. The money lost in such cases is not nearly as bad as the nervous strain upon the court and the attorneys.

The New Grain Act.
Farmers and grain dealers generally are a little in doubt as to what effect the U. S. grain standards act will have. This important piece of legislation enacted by the last congress, comes into effect today and there will be uniform inspection of grain by federal inspectors in every state. In some states there has been no inspection and in others this work has not been of the desired class. The purpose of the act is good and upon its enforcement and the character of the employees secured depends the benefits which may eventually accrue to the public in thus securing uniform standards of quality and condition of corn, wheat and other grains.

For the purpose of administering the new law the country has been divided into thirty-two districts and a grading station will be established in each one of them. St. Louis, Chicago, Cairo and Indianapolis are the stations most nearly located to this county.

Taking Books to the People.
A proposed bond issue in Chicago shows clearly the efforts being made to increase the efficiency of public libraries. It is proposed to raise $500,000 thru this bond issue in order to bring the "books near to the people." If the issue is carried buildings will be erected for three regional branches of the Chicago public library and ten or more auxiliaries.

This bond issue plan is merely an enlargement of the idea now carried out by the Jacksonville public library in establishing substations. Three such stations are now doing service and they carry into effect that very idea of placing the books near the people. This work is tending to greatly increase the usefulness and efficiency of the library and making it more and more a center of learning and uplift.

The Universal Quest.
Dr. Harvey Wiley, formerly chief chemist of the U. S. department of agriculture, will deliver the principal address at the observance of health week which will be in Minneapolis tomorrow. The municipal, hospital and various medical and public welfare societies have co-operated in plans for the celebration of the week. A parade will be a feature and each day of week there will be health lectures at shops and factories, churches and schools.

We have had health days in Illinois but the interest has not been maintained for a week's time. It is to be hoped that the Minneapolis plan may take on national scope and result in a movement generally beneficial to the public. So much is said and written about public health problems and so many suggestions are made these days that it is much easier to create enthusiasm and interest in the questions than was true even a few years ago. The agitation is having its good effect also as statistics from many cities go to prove. The fight against tuberculosis including the county hospital idea, is simply one branch of this good health movement. Fortunately the good health subject is one that cannot be overlooked.

THANKSGIVING.
We thank Thee, God, for all Thy care,
For wisdom Thou didst give
To keep us from temptation's snare,
For strength that we might live.

We feel our gratitude is more Than other days we knew,
For tho our trials have been sore
Thy hand didst lead us thru.

'Twas unto Thee we looked for light,
Because Thy promise reads,
'Thou shalt no terror fear by night,
And love supplies thy needs.'

We would today our thanks express
By doing all we can
To lift our brothers from distress,
And help our fellow man.

Remembering now Thy blessings came
To cheer us all the way,
We'll make of life henceforth the same
One glad Thanksgiving Day.
S. Adrian Hughes.

Look Inside.
(Milwaukee Journal.)
There is no one who has not something to be glad of. There is no trouble but there might have been a worse. It is easy to let thoughts of troubles, of unpleasant things, rule our spirits. Carlyle pointed out the trouble when he said: "Always there is a black spot in our sunshine; it is the shadow of ourselves."

It is in ourselves that many of our troubles arise. We give way to envy or jealousy and thus spoil the joy which could have been ours. Why should it make a dark spot in our sunshine that another has something we have not? Why should praise of another cause jealousy to find lodging in our souls? Why can we not be glad when another is happy instead of wishing his joy our own? Why let hatred of anyone mar our happiness? We cannot like everyone equally. When we find one person un congenial, why spend time in disliking him and thinking of all the reasons we dislike him? Why not think of those we do like and find congenial?

Why should we let our hearts grow hard in hatred of any because of real or fancied wrong? If it is a real wrong some one has done us, he has hurt himself more than he can hurt us. If we are just, we shall find many things we think wrongs only fancied ones or things that really do not matter. Remember the things that should make you glad. If the world looks dark, look within and see if you yourself are casting a shadow on your sunshine.

The Par'ount Issue.
The action of Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis in East St. Louis yesterday whereby he ordered officials to close saloons on Sunday gave another instance of the trend of the times. The court's action did more, in that it suggested still another method for bringing about needed municipal cleanups. For a considerable period the flagrant violation of saloon laws in East St. Louis has been a disgrace to the state in general and the efforts of an organized committee of citizens to bring about law and order was not very effective. Now a federal court order is made for a cleanup.

Judge Landis called the mayor, chief of police and other officials before him and in unmistakable language pointed out their duty. He told as he is with the full power of the federal government, Judge Landis' words were fraught with meaning for the officials. Unless they are constituted differently from most of citizens of the United States they will hesitate some time before they take the chances of having Judge Landis know that they have disregarded the warning and continued to permit violations of the law.

It is not in violation of the federal law to permit a saloon to keep open on Sunday but Judge Landis' construction of the case is that the Sunday saloon violations have brought about the breaking of federal laws and so he proposes to strike at the saloon as the real source of the trouble. Altogether the court's statement to officials, witnesses and brewery representatives makes up just about the strongest temperance lecture that has been delivered in these days when expression of anti-liquor sentiment is quite usual. It must be borne in mind too that Judge Landis holds a life job and is not a candidate for any office. With Judges, metropolitan newspapers and politicians, once grudgingly silent on the liquor question and particularly liquor legislation, now earnest and vociferous anti-liquor advocates, it is no wonder that some of the liquor men are looking to the future and preparing to turn their plants into the manufacture of soft drinks or into entirely new lines of business.

Rippling Rhymes

FUTURE DEEDS.
Sweet friend of mine, it doesn't pay to tell of things you will achieve; the golden era is today; and promises too oft deceive. "Tomorrow I will cut much grass, tomorrow prizes will be won." Tomorrow! But to day, alas, goes by and you have nothing done. Tomorrow is a vision dim, that makes the dreamer's heart feel good. Today the man of sense and vim goes forth and sows three cords of wood. Today we know we are alive, our bones and thews are well; it is our privilege to strive and put some kopecks in the till. Tomorrow, when the maddening crowds of workers throng along the paves, we may be wearing jaunty shrouds, all neatly dolled up for the grave.

The things I've done may count a bit, and gain some measure of applause, when I this daily round have quit, when I have crossed my pulseless paws. The lofty ends that I pursue won't make a record till they're won; the things that I intend to do, will never count until they're done. And so, my friend, again I say—and, saying it, I'm strangely moved—the golden era is today; don't let it vanish unimproved.

THE GREATEST BLOOD PURIFIER EVER DISCOVERED

Thousand Hears Testimony to a Remedy That Has Stood the Test of Over Half a Century—S. S. S.

Possibly there is no remedy ever compounded by the hand of man that has been able to show such a clean record for the wonderful effect it has had in remedying the ills of men and women. The library of the Swift Specific Company in testimonials, setting forth in distinct and indisputable language how S. S. S. has banished the horrible suffering of rheumatism. There are thousands and thousands of letters from grateful fathers who have at last the knowledge that the hereditary taint that was discovered in their blood will not have to be handed down to their children. Here are wonderful records to tell where the horrible suffering of Catarrh has gone forever, where skin diseases that have disfigured the face and features have left them as clean and wholesome as nature intended them to be. Cases of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, Tetters, Rash—case after case of so-called skin diseases which have been brought to bay by the marvelous tonic effects of S. S. S. Tell-tale Scrofula no longer has its terrors, for the famous remedy, like a guardian angel, stands ready to banish it. The chief thing for the sufferer from blood diseases, and Rheumatism is one of the worst of them, is to realize that they cannot be cured by rubbing, by douches of hot water, salves, lotions or any outward or external treatment. These remedies that soothe often do no more than aggravate the trouble in the long run. Believe that even pimples are the danger signal of bad blood, and treat the blood and not the pimple and the relief is sure. Medical advice is free to any sufferer from blood disorders or skin diseases. You know your symptoms. "WATCH YOUR STEP"
COMES TOMORROW

Catchy Musical Production Will be Seen at the Grand

With its galaxy of stars, Irving Berlin's syncopated melange of music, "Watch Your Step," will be presented at the Grand tomorrow night, Dec. 1st.

The piece fairly radiates with syncopated life and its music cannot be compared with that of any similar production. That master of syncopation, Mr. Berlin, did a big thing for the production when he wrote the words and music for the various numbers, all typical of their author's style.

The production is an expensive and admirable one. The piece is beautifully mounted. A cast of stars has been assembled, that almost takes the average playgoer's breath away. As for the chorus, the fact that it was trained by R. H. Burnside is a sufficient voucher for its merits. The girls have good voices, beauty and plenty of ginger. Some of them are positively ravishing, and their costumes are as gorgeous as they are infinite in variety. "Watch Your Step" is a "whale" of a show and fills the eye and ear. Don't miss it!

"COMING RIGHT ALONG"

Yes, the new garage is coming right along and will be ready for occupancy Jan. 1st or sooner. Yet we are prepared to supply you anything in the Ford line from our old stand.

URANIA LODGE IN BOOSTER MEETING

Fine Program Presented for Audience of Three Hundred—Plan for New Members.

More than 300 attended the booster meeting of Urania lodge I. O. O. F. Wednesday night and the occasion was marked by the enthusiasm which is almost certain to come with numbers. In the earlier part of the evening, after a social hour, a program was carried out and still later came the supper served in the banquet room. Urania lodge is in a very flourishing condition now and teams are at work securing the applications of persons who it is believed will be desirable members. Dr. S. J. Carter was general chairman, Walter Paterson was chairman of the reception committee and was assisted by A. C. Baldwin, W. W. Wright, Ellis Henderson, Clyde Black and Stansfield Baldwin. The decorating was in charge of John Roberts and Charles Baisley. Edward Rawlings was chairman of the banquet committee and was ably assisted by a number of Odd Fellows. Benjamin Owen had the big task of making forty gallons of oyster soup and he also had several assistants. Carl H. Weber, as chairman of the entertainment committee, presided during the program.

The principal address was made by Rev. F. M. Crabtree of White Hall, who has been a loyal member of the Odd Fellows for a number of years. The speaker emphasized the principles of the order and referred to the practical examples of these principles found in the old people's home and the orphan's home which the order has built and maintains. Music and readings combined to make up a program of very unusual merit and interest. After the singing of the opening ode prayer was offered by the chaplain, Clyde Black, and then came a piano duet by W. P. and Ray Spillman. Aided by Mrs. W. P. Spillman, the presented two other numbers, including a musical specialty when they played, beside the piano, the xylophone, drum and tom-tom. Miss Inez Griffin gave two excellent readings, with Miss Mildred Henderson playing the accompaniment. A decided novelty was presented by Isador Pine, a Frenchman resident of Jacksonville and employed at the Capps mill. Using only wine glasses and other glassware Mr. Pine played a number of musical selections. He was recalled several times, the audience greatly enjoying this feature. In addition the Odd Fellows' orchestra, under the direction of Otto Eckels, played a number of selections. Altogether the occasion was one of great pleasure.

Gus Opperman, who has been detained at his home on South Main street for the past thirteen weeks by illness, was yesterday reported as being no better.

CADILLAC TEST CAR RUNS 24 HOURS EVERY DAY

On the go constantly, in all kinds of weather, over all sort of roads

A CEASELESS GRIND FOR THE LAST TWO YEARS

Automobile manufacturers, as a rule, subject their cars periodically to driving over the roads for several weeks or a month or so. But it is doubtful if any other car has ever come in for a test quite as gruelling and continuous as that which falls to the lot of the Cadillac "twenty-four hour car."

This car is operated by the factory at Detroit—not only twenty-four hours a day, but every day—winter and summer, in fair weather and foul, through sand and mud, and snow, through dust and pouring rain. It knows no rest; and the object of the drivers is to see how much punishment and abuse they can give it. Such a car has been on the roads of Michigan for the last two years. Four experimental drivers, working in pairs, each pair driving 12 hours, pilot the car on its ceaseless grind. The failure of deliberate attempts by the drivers to break and wear out various parts constitutes a source of daily reassurance to Cadillac engineers.

A Detroit newspaper reporter who spent part of a night in the "twenty-four hour car" wrote of his adventure as follows:

"The top was up, the side curtains were down, for it was raining, and the whole car was covered with mud. And when I say covered, I mean plastered.

"My first impression was that I was not alone in the tonneau. There was something lying on the floor in front of me. I kicked it, and it did not move. Then I touched it, and it felt cold and clammy. I recoiled squeamishly.

"If those sand bags are in the way, just kick 'em around any way you please," said one of the experimental men. "Ten of 'em. 75 pounds apiece. Same as five 150-pound people."

"We soon reached the concrete outside the city. Although it was wet and slippery, the size, the noiselessness, and the smooth running of the car gave me a sense of absolute security.

"The concrete ended abruptly, and we were upon a treacherous clay road. The windshield was so splattered with dirty water that it was occasionally necessary for one of the men to sozzle off a portion of the glass with his glove.

"Some other reckless voyager of the night had apparently preceded us, for three tracks corkscrewed from one side of the road to the other. It was apparently a lighter car, and everything indicated that it was having a rough voyage. And ours was by no means smooth. Thirty, thirty-five, forty-five miles an hour—

"I lunged from one side of the tonneau to the other. If the car had been anything but a Cadillac Eight, and the man at the wheel anything but a master, I should have given up all hope. Mile after mile of lunging, buffeting, ramming.

"Presently we saw the tall light of the other car and we soon passed it with a wish. As I had guessed, it was a smaller, lighter car. As they saw us roll past them with such unswerving power, an expression of admiration must have passed their lips.

"All the time the men had been silent except for such occasional remarks as:

"Never saw these roads so treacherous."

"Say, but this car has—bump in to a rut—controllability."

"At about four o'clock the one who was not driving began to sing—an attempt at grand opera. It exasperated me because I wanted to sleep. In spite of the grand opera and the thrashing around I finally did doze a little.

"When I awoke the rain had ceased and the roads were nearly dry. We swung along more steadily than before, and I was able to sit back comfortably. The musical one began humming ragtime. An ungodly hour for ragtime, I thought. As we passed a farmhouse, we saw a man with a lantern on his way to the barn. Morning was coming.

"At one point there was a bad sandy stretch beside the road. The stoical gentleman at the wheel seemed possessed of a sudden facetious mood. We left the road completely and plowed through the sand—on high gear.

"It was beginning to become light. We pulled up a long, hard hill, and from its crest we caught the first glimpse of that day's sun. The horrors of the night faded from my mind. It seemed like an old legend in which one comes upon a beautiful enchanted valley after a perilous trip through a dark forest.

"Beautiful, isn't it? And see that little river over there," said the musical one.

"Uh huh," grunted he at the wheel. "I guess we'd better stop at the next town for some more gas."

BREAD BAKING
CONTEST INTERESTSJudges Had Long Task in Examining Hundreds of Entries—The Winners Announced.

The bread baking contest with Valiers' Enterprise flour, distributed by Cain & Sons, came to a very successful consummation at the store of Johnson, Hackett & Guthrie Wednesday afternoon. No previous contest here has aroused such interest. There were 378 entries and the judges had a difficult task, indeed in examining the hundreds of sample loaves and in making their awards. The contest had been preceded by various forms of publicity and women canvassers representing the firm went from house to house to acquaint people with the merits of the flour and the facts about the contest. The judging began at 10 o'clock in the morning but the entries were so numerous that announcement of the prizes did not take place until after 5:30 o'clock. As this work progressed scores and at times hundreds of women thronged about the store entrance to inspect the loaves entered and to watch the busy judges. Some of the women had so much interest in the contest that they remained all thru the afternoon and until the prizes were made known.

I was an educational affair, too, for the judges did not work privately and as they examined the loaves talked freely about the defects or the points of special excellence. The judges were Mrs. W. D. Doying, Miss Isabel Walker and Miss Helen Doying. Members of the firm of Cain & Sons, H. A. Burkenmeyer of St. Louis, and H. K. Gardner of Decatur, representatives of the Valier & Spies Milling company, were present the day to assist the judges and to answer any questions of the contestants.

While in so many entries only a comparatively few could receive honors, many of those who did not get prizes declared that they had been well repaid for their work by the good points in bread making which they had seen demonstrated. The awards were as follows:

Mrs. A. W. Abbott, 1102 East Lafayette avenue, first, a barrel of flour.

Mrs. A. T. Swearingen, Greenwood avenue, South Jacksonville, second, half a barrel of flour.

Frances Morley, 1120 West College avenue, third, a quarter of a barrel of flour.

Mrs. Mary Sieber, 851 North Prairie street, fourth, one eighth barrel flour.

Mrs. Lee Wiegand, 223 West Michigan avenue; Mrs. Ada Oliver, 1429 Mound avenue; Mrs. Ben C. Andrews, 723 West Lafayette avenue; Mrs. Carrie Burton, 919 West College avenue; Mrs. Frank Tate, 221 Anna street; Mrs. James Bryant, 1153 South Diamond street, each an eighth barrel of flour.

Mrs. Abbott, winner of first, bought her flour of Frank Ferreira.

IT WILL BE A PLEASURE.

To eat Thanksgiving dinner at the New Pacific hotel cafe today. Roast Turkey, duck, goose, chicken. Also fresh baby lobsters, blue points and other special dishes and all good things to eat. Reserve your tables early. Special dinner 11:30 to 2 p. m. Five-thirty to 8 p. m. Prof. Johnson's orchestra will furnish music.

MUCH FUN AT REHEARSALS.

If "Snapshots" is enjoyed by the audience next Monday evening as much as the participants have at rehearsals, every one will be doubly repaid. Rehearsal was held last night at the David Prince auditorium which is filled with Seventh and Eighth grade school desks and suitable for children from 12 to 16 years of age. Tom Buckthorpe, who is one of the "Stars" and who exceeds somewhat in avoiddupois the 100 mark, sat down in one of the small seats. His "bay window" became wedged between the front and rear and he could neither laugh nor cry, whisper, sing, or even breathe comfortably. Someone suggested that the fire department be called but after much hard work and scheming he finally extricated himself. Tom preferred standing during the remainder of rehearsal and while waiting to "go on."

Mrs. J. K. C. Pierson has consented to take the part of "Mrs. Fletcher," and will be assisted by two street waifs, played by Miss Carrie Mackness and Harold Dunlap.

Rumor was started yesterday that some few seats have already been reserved. The Kindergarten board announced last evening that positively no reservations would be made until Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Reservations can be made by mail for dollar seats only.

This is a good time to go hunting. Call early for your shells today. We close at noon. Brady Bros.

IMPORTANT MASONIC MEETING.
Jacksonville Lodge No. 579, A. F. & A. Masons, had an especially important gathering yesterday beginning at 1 p. m. and continuing till late in the evening. Degrees were conferred on a number of candidates and the work done was of a superior character and very impressive. Lunch was served at six and after the work in the evening a banquet was enjoyed by the brethren. Visitors were present from Virginia, Ashland, Lynnville, Winchester, Woodson and Murayville.

PROMINENT CONCORD RESIDENT DIES

Charles Sanders Came to Morgan County in Early Days—Acquired Large Land Holdings

At 5:00 p. m. Wednesday, the venerable Charles Sanders died at his home in Concord. He was born Feb. 14, 1826, in Virginia, being nearly ninety one years old at the time of his death. During his early days he had but few advantages and worked hard, receiving for some time but $1 a week. But out of that he saved $45 with which he made his way to this state and when he landed in Springfield had but 25c in his pocket. He arrived in this county March 4, 1852, and rented the George Henschler farm of 100 acres near Concord for five years, and from this humble beginning he went on prospering until he became the owner of 707 acres of choice Morgan county land.

Mr. Sanders was the son of a good man who sacrificed all he had to pay an honest debt contracted by going to sea, and who was so crushed by it that he died not long afterward. After he was settled in this county Mr. Sanders went back to bring out his grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Burns, who was eighty nine years old.

He was always a proud boast of his that when he was on his way to Springfield a kind-hearted man gave him a ride in his buggy, and when he asked his name he replied, "Abraham Lincoln."

Mr. Sanders was a member of Capt. Brown's company in the 101st Illinois regiment which took such a prominent part in the great battle and won such fame for Morgan county. In the battle of Peach Tree Creek he was one of a very few of his company who survived. The union forces had only 6,000 men and the Rebels were 45,000 strong. Mr. Sanders made an impromptu barricade with his knapsack full of clothes and after the fight was over there were fifty three holes found in the article. Once a bullet grazed his forehead, and others went thru his clothes, but he lived to participate in the famous "march to the sea" and the grand review.

Mr. Sanders always took a great deal of interest in everything pertaining to the betterment of the community and was a liberal contributor to the fund for the Concord Methodist church. He was always a very strong temperance advocate and had never lost an opportunity to hit the traffic a blow.

He was married to Miss Hannah Eagle May 21, 1856, by Rev. John H. Lane, a Methodist preacher. His wife died many years ago. He was the father of ten children and those surviving him are Elizabeth, Mrs. Charles Yeck, Martha Ellen, Mrs. Elza Harmon, Mrs. Meca Yeck, Minnie, Mrs. Charles Meyers, and two sons, James and Ernest, all of whom reside in and near Concord. Those who are dead are Edward Lincoln, Grace, William T. Sherman and Louis. Mr. Sanders was an upright, honorable man, successful in business, kind hearted to everyone and a strong force in the community in which he lived. He was widely respected by all who knew him and in his death the county loses a useful citizen and a man who served well his generation.

REV. W. E. SPOONTS POINTS TO PUBLICITY VALUE

Clean Newspapers of Great Advantage to Any Community and Can Aid Churches—Potatoes for Salvation Army.

A good sized audience greeted Rev. W. E. Spoonst last evening at Northminster church to hear the reverend gentleman on the subject he would announce and it was in a word, "Publicity." He took for his text Matt. 12:42: "The Queen of the south shall rise up in judgment with this generation and condemn it for she came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon and behold a greater than Solomon is here."

The burden of the discourse was a plea for publicity and using in a sanctified manner the ways of successful business men. A clean newspaper in a community is an unmitigated blessing for it may be used to great advantage by the church in advertising its meetings and operations. If the church doesn't let the world know what it is doing it cannot expect anything but empty seats at services.

As the Queen of Sheba earnestly sought King Solomon so should the sinner seek Christ, going himself as did the illustrious visitor to the Jewish king. The people of today should be careful that they are not condemned by her for she went a long way to get the truth while here it is at our very doors.

The request for potatoes resulted in a donation of five bushels of excellent tubers which will be very acceptable to the Salvation Army. The lecture and donation were suggested by the Jacksonville Courier and advertised without charge.

"THE TOPIC OF CONVERSATION"

FAIRM RESIDENCE BURNS.

The residence of James Sheppard west of New Berlin was destroyed by fire Tuesday night at 11 o'clock. As there were no fires in any of the stoves in the dwelling, Mr. Sheppard believes that the flames were of incendiary origin. The fact that Mr. Sheppard had received a number of threatening letters gives color to this view of the origin. A full investigation will be made in the hope of finding out the facts. All the members of the family were in bed when they were awakened by the smell of smoke and found the house in flames. They escaped in their night clothes and were able to take out only a small part of the furniture. Several smaller buildings were burned but it was possible to save the barn.

WELL KNOWN MEN COMING FOR DAIRY WEEK

Series of Meetings Will be Held in County—Interest Grows in Dairying Questions.

It is certainly to be hoped that farmers and dairymen of the county will display interest in the series of dairy meetings arranged for this county during the coming week. The plans have been perfected thru co-operation of the Illinois State Dairymen's association and the speakers will be men of practical experience. Since the development of the two creameries in this city more and more attention has been given to dairying in this territory and already very beneficial results are apparent. Farmers are finding that they can keep more cows than they have in the past at good profit and with a ready market here in Jacksonville for butter and skimmed milk for their pigs, the farm profits are quite materially increased.

Then there is the further decided advantage that dairying as an adjunct to farming aids in keeping up the soil fertility. A visit to the so-called dairying districts of the state shows that the farms are in a high state of cultivation and that farm buildings are kept up. In other words dairying districts are continuously prosperous and therefore farmers and dairy owners who have given the matter much thought earnestly hope that dairying may be developed in this county in a still larger way than in the past.

Among the speakers for the coming week will be P. J. Mason of Elgin, president of the state Dairymen's association; H. B. Irish of Farina, Sidney B. Smith of Springfield; John B. Newman, assistant state food and dairy commissioner; E. L. Clark and E. T. Ebersol of Champaign. Among the subjects to be discussed will be "Dairying a Paying Business," "Building up a Dairy Herd," "Dairy Farming with Dairy Animals," "Alfalfa and how to Grow it," "Dairy Cow Judging," "The Value of Cow Testing Associations."

The program for the week will include the following meetings.

Tuesday, 2 and 7:30 p. m. Chapin—Ernest Neinhoffer, chairman.

Literberry—W. E. Murry, chairman.

Wednesday, 2 and 7:30 p. m. Ashland—Ross Jones, chairman.

Lynnville—Carl May, chairman.

Thursday, 2 and 7:30 p. m. Winchester—E. N. Gillman, chairman.

Franklin—Lewis Roberts, chairman.

Friday, 2 and 7:30 p. m. Murrayville—C. J. Wright, chairman.

Friday, 7:30 p. m. Alexander—Ernest Strawn, chairman.

Saturday, 2 and 7:30 p. m. Jacksonville, at the circuit court room. Charles S. Black, afternoon chairman; E. E. McPhail, evening chairman.

COMMUNITY PICNIC DINNER AT TRINIDAD SCHOOL.

In anticipation of Thanksgiving the pupils of Trinidad school yesterday had a community picnic dinner which was a great success. Each brought a contribution and an extra for the teacher, Emanuel M. Vasconcellos, the veteran instructor, and it is safe to add that if he had eaten even a small fraction of all the delicious young friends placed on his table he would have been obliged to secure a substitute for several days. In the afternoon the pupils had recitations and a good time generally. A very pleasing incident also took place which is well worth imitating. A family of limited means moved into the neighborhood and the children had to be taken out of school for lack of clothes so the pupils went to work securing a goodly sum of money and a wagon load of family supplies for the new comers who were indeed grateful and surprised as well.

ELLIOTT STATE BANK Christmas Savings Club.

AN UNUSUAL FAMILY RECORD. Mrs. A. M. Bunce of Jacksonville, Mrs. Eva Considine of Mexico, Mo., and Mrs. Charlotte Pursley of Eldara, Pike county, as previously mentioned are at the home of Mrs. E. O. Mayer, 706 West North street, who is a daughter of Mrs. Bunce. The three first mentioned are sisters and belong to an unusual family, for together with another sister and a brother they are the survivors of the seventeen children of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Sperry, early and long time residents of Pike county. The family home was on a farm near Barry.

Mrs. Pursley is eighty six years of age, Mrs. Bunce eighty four and Mrs. Considine, the youngest member of the family, is sixty nine. Mrs. Bunce has the unusual distinction of being a great great grandmother as she has six great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren. The family record is unusual, indeed, and the three sisters, two of whom have already passed the usual allotment of life, are vigorous in mind and body.

SAVING MADE EASY

ELLIOTT STATE BANK INSTALLS A CHRISTMAS CLUB

Most Popular Form of Savings—Operated by Patented System.

The Wrightson Saving club plan just adopted by the Elliott State bank gives everybody a chance to save regularly, for the bank desires to encourage saving and is willing to accept a small sum. Even boys and girls are invited to become members, for it is a well-known fact that the saving habit needs to be fostered in this country. Once the youthful mind realizes how really easy it is to save and how pleasant it is to have money in the bank, the saving habit will become life long.

Many men and women, whether their incomes are large or small, find it difficult to "get ahead" financially. They postpone the time when they will start saving to provide for the rainy day because they never seem to have enough spare money to start a bank account. The Christmas club is a great benefit to the people in this way, for they don't need any more capital to get started than the first small payment, and after all, the start is the important thing.

Deposits can be made any time after December 1.

The club opens week of December 26th and runs for fifty weeks, so that each member receives check in time for Christmas shopping. When payments are made regularly the bank allows interest on the account, which is always an inducement to saving.

A number of plans are offered and members may select one or more of them. In the uniform classes one may pay 25c, 50c, or $1.00 weekly, the totals amounting respectively to $12.50, $25.00 and $50.00. Another way is what is known as the progressive class, in which the payment increases every week. One of these classes starts at 2c, next week 4c, and so on. The 2c progressive club matures at $25.50. Then there is a 5c progressive club maturing at $63.75.

Regular bank books are not needed in carrying the Christmas club accounts. The Elliott State bank is using a patented card system, in which the record of payment is made by punching cards. This not only gives the depositor a receipt, but also shows exactly how much has been paid to date, and does away with any possibility of error.

This attractive method of saving has proven most popular. A large display announcement regarding the plans appears elsewhere in this paper.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

The Square in 1857

By Ensley Moore

(Member Illinois State Historical Society)

The Square in 1857
 Times have decidedly changed in a business way in Jacksonville since 1857.

Then, the Square was almost the whole thing so far as stores went. At the north west corner of West State was the large, two story and a half, double brick building which Paul B. Ayers had built along in the thirties, then one of the finest buildings in the town, or in the state. Upstairs Mr. Ayers had his home, and housed his little boys, Marshal P. and Augustus E. They succeeded their father in business, and in 1857 occupied the corner as a drug store; at the back end of which L. L. Morrison had a law office, fronting on West State street. The firm name was A. E. Ayers & Co.

Next north, in the same building, fronting the square, was the bank of M. P. Ayers & Co.

The firm was M. P. Ayers, A. E. Ayers and Wm. H. Campbell. Mr. Campbell died in 1859. Then A. E. Ayers gave up the drug store and went into the bank.

D. B. Ayers put up the fine building referred to above, and his sons, in 1881, put up the finer store building, which preceded the present Ayers National Bank. The Ayers' were active and prominent in building good business and residence houses, and three generations of them have been efficient upbuilders of this city.

Wm. S. Hook was a youthful clerk in the Ayers bank in 1857. His connection with the street railway here, and his after success in Los Angeles, California, is well known.

J. W. King
 Joseph W. King had a fine three story brick next, where Cassell is now, in which Mr. King kept the best jewelry store in town. He had begun three years before, in a little one story frame building about twenty five by fifty feet on the ground.

Next came a dry goods store, then "Stewart's Emporium," where Madame Stewart kept a toy and notion store, with a millinery shop in the back end of it. This was one of the best known establishments of the day. This, up stairs, was the home of Kate Stewart Willis, and Harry and Charlie Stewart.

Cassell & Clement had a stove and tin store next, and the Pyatt's had a tobacco and cigar store, which was indicated by "Pyatt's Indian."

J. S. Anderson had his furniture and undertaking establishment next. Emanuel Hamilton occupied the corner of Court street, with a confectionery, and an ice cream saloon upstairs.

At the north west corner, where "The Douglas" now is, was the frame grocery store of Corcoran and Austin, a two story building. All the buildings between State and Court streets were three story bricks.

Alderman & Tomlinson
 This firm had a clothing store in the one story, double front, frame where Myers Bros. are now. There "Dory's" trade began, before he had come to Jacksonville.

Bristow had a store next, with Miss Egbert's millinery upstairs. Willis Catlin came next, with his bookstore, over which he lived. Sigler's harness shop was next.

Then Khileman B. Price had a jewelry store, followed by Mr. Vickery's confectionery. Mr. Vickery was the father of Majors John and E. C., as well as of George.

The "Mansion House" kept by Geo. W. Fox loomed up where it is now called the Park Hotel. On the ground floor was the office and men's sitting room, and now, running to the corner of North Main street, was Kibbe and Lathrop's dry goods store. They made a specialty of pretty and stylish clerks.

Alexander McDonald occupied the two story brick at the north east corner of Main, as a dry goods establishment. Then Geo. C. Scott had a similar place.

There was another store in there—forgotten about now. These were all two stories and a half high.

Chambers' fine three story brick block came next, it being hardly finished as to its three stories. E. C. Lax, dry goods, first occupied the western one. There was a brick next, occupied probably by Wm. N. Ross, with dry goods. Then there were two one story frame shops.

The present Opera House corner was the present Ayers three story brick, which he occupied to sell goods in. Robert Hockenbush used to speak of him as Smiley "Enderson. Mr. Hockenbush was not to blame for this, as he was English.

CIRCUIT COURT TO RESUME FRIDAY.

Strawn vs. Robertson Case Taken Under Advisement—Court Orders.

Judge Creighton adjourned circuit court late Wednesday afternoon until Friday morning. In the suit of Gates Strawn, administrator, vs. John R. Robertson, the taking of evidence was completed and the court has the case under advisement. This suit was heard without a jury. In Mr. Robertson's suit against the Hartford Fire Insurance company his attorneys made a motion for leave to amend the declaration as specified in a motion placed on file.

In the suit of Julius E. Strawn, by administrator, against Mr. Robertson, leave was given the defendant to amend his answer.

In the case of the people vs. John Frank et al, demurrer was overruled and leave was given to answer by Dec. 17. This is a case which involves an unpaid assessment levied in connection with improvement work in the Mauvaisterre Creek Drainage district.

In the partition suit of John W. Marshall et al vs. Thomas Marshall et al, report made by Master in Chan-had the brick building at the south east corner of Court street and the Square. They sold dry goods.

Perhaps J. O. King had a store next south, as did Henry Rice a clothing place, next south. Rice went South, then East, and became very rich.

There was a little frame confectionery next, then John Hockenbush's two story brick block, one store of which was occupied by Meyers and Knollenberg, tobaccoists, and the other by J. B. C. Smith, with his "Bee-Hive" dry goods.

Robert Hockenbush
 Came next with a two story brick, with a large warehouse fronting on E. State street. He was first a druggist, but he also kept "notions" and agricultural small implements.

Timothy D. Eames was next with a dry goods store, probably also handling some groceries and table ware.

Dr. B. Gillett probably had a dry goods store on the corner of State street. Eames' and Gillett's were in one block, a two story and a half brick.

Beni F. Stevenson had the south east corner of State and the Square, with dry goods and groceries. In the back end of this store, upstairs, was the "Morgan Journal," a weekly Republican paper, edited by Paul Selby.

J. O. Connell had a hardware store south of Stevenson, and Mathers and Wadsworth had the same sort next. Their sign said "Sligo Iron and Hardware." These two firms were in a two story frame house.

The Congregational Church
 Came next, occupying three fronts, with a little one story brick building at the south west corner of the lot.

The church stood well back in the lot, and was a good sized, white, frame building, with a belfry.

Next was Wm. Branson's two story brick, where he sold furniture. He was afterwards mayor of the city.

A large, double, two story frame house, on the corner, was "Lawson's boarding house."

At the south east corner, where Hopper's are now, was the harness store of Matthew Stacy, afterwards mayor.

A two story brick was at the south west corner of Mauvaisterre street. Then came a frame shop, and then Chatham Simms' dry goods and grocery store, followed by a two story wide front, brick building used as a flour store by Ira Davenport. Next was a frame building.

Wm. Harrison had a three story brick on the corner of Main street, which he occupied with furniture and shop.

There was probably one or two little frame shops where Strawn's building now is. Mr. Strawn began putting that up in 1859.

David Robb
 Came next, in a little, two story frame store, and he sold dry goods. He was one of the active business men of his day.

The "Duncan House", belonging to the Governor's estate, was a large two story frame, standing back on the next lot.

A frame, shoemaker's shop was next, occupied by David Hamilton. Johnson and Richards, stoves and tinware, had the two story and a half brick, on the corner where Brown's music house is now.

The Wolcott Place
 Came in the south west corner between Sandy and Morgan streets. It was a large, two story, frame house, afterwards occupied as the "Young Ladies' Athenaeum" and now moved to the north west corner of West and College streets.

Had their hat and cap store at the north west corner of Morgan street.

Well & Brother took the building next about that year, but afterwards moved one door north, with their clothing establishment.

John Selby probably was next, third from the corner, with a grocery store. It burned in 1859.

The Russels probably had a dry goods store next.

Dr. Storer had a drug store, where Coover and Shreeve are now.

The "Old State Bank" was next. Then a two story frame, which ran to the corner, having three stories in it. The second was probably occupied by I. D. Rawlings, with clothing.

All these buildings, except the three high last, were two stories and a half high, and built of brick.

The building last named was at the south west corner of West State street and the Square. Wm. C. Woodman began his business in it with the "Philadelphia Store" in 1859.

This brings the party and its guide back to the place of starting.

cery John M. Butler was approved and a decree was granted and approved.

In the suit of Maggie Hays against Henry A. Suter, the report of the master was approved and the decree granted.

Thanksgiving Day is here so are Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

In these troubled days, when the cost of everything we eat or wear is advancing you must not forget that the temptation is very great on manufacturers to keep the prices of their products down by letting down a little on the quality.

That's just what's going on in the making of clothes as well as other things.

And that's why you can be thankful for the quality of all wool fabrics, the fine tailoring, the smart styles are all the more important; and these makers haven't lowered their standards in the smallest degree.

"But," you say, "I brush my teeth regularly, yet they decay." Yes, you brush them, but do you REALLY CLEAN them? Tonight, after brushing your teeth, examine them closely. You will likely find an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bits of food deposit hiding in the crevices.

Decay, as well as the dangerous gum disease called Pyorrhea, usually develops only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

SENRECO, the formula of a dental specialist, keeps the teeth REALLY CLEAN. It embodies specially prepared soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Moreover, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS AT ROODHOUSE TODAY

The Jacksonville High school football team closes the 1916 season with a game with Roodhouse this afternoon. Coach Hufford will send a somewhat weakened team on the field

KANSAS AND MISSOURI WILL BATTLE TODAY.

Kansas Stakes Claim to Conference
Title on Outcome of Battle

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 29.—In the Missouri Valley, the meeting of Kansas and Missouri Universities
held first place in football interest. Kansas stakes its claim to a conference championship on the outcome of the battle with the Tigers. Equally important from the sporting point of view, however, was the clash of Nebraska and Notre Dame at Lincoln in which the Indians will try to retrieve the one point defeat suffered last year at the hands of the Cornhuskers.

Other contests of interest to be played tomorrow will be Creighton vs. University of South Dakota; Haskell vs. Highland Park at Des Moines; Henry Kendall vs. Missouri
School of Mines; Rolla at Tulsa;
Kansas Aggies vs. Washburn at Manhattan; St. Louis vs. Washington University at St. Louis; University of Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma Aggies at Oklahoma City; William Jewell vs.
Missouri Wesleyan at Cameron.

The challenge of Henry Kendall College of Tulsa to Notre Dame for a post-season game at Tulsa Saturday
has aroused some hope that the Oklahoma champions will have the chance to meet one of the important teams of the middle west. Kendall so far has not been defeated.

JURISTS CENTENARY TO BE OBSERVED

Officials in Washington Will Recall
Work of Morrison R. Waite.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.— In official circles in Washington, and particularly among those connected with the Department of Justice and the Supreme Court of the United States, today was recalled as the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Morrison R. Waite, one of America's most eminent jurists, leader for three decades of the Ohio bar, counsel for the government at the tribunal of arbitration held at Geneva in 1871-2, and Chief Justice of the highest tribunal in the land from 1874 until the date of his death in 1888.

When President Grant named Mr.
Waite for the office of chief justice,
made vacant by the death of Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase, certain critics said that it was another of the administration's blunders. Mr. Waite,
a native of Connecticut and a graduate of Yale, was an eminent lawyer, but his national reputation had been gained only a year or two before his appointment to the supreme bench.

President Grant had appointed him counsel, with Caleb Cushing and William M. Evarts, for the United States before the tribunal of arbitration at Geneva, and Mr. Waite was chosen to argue the liability of the English government for permitting
Confederate steamers to be supplied with coal at British ports during the Civil war. He showed great ability and power, and carried conviction on all points he raised.

When Chief Justice Waite took his seat upon the supreme bench he was watched with the greatest interest,
and it was soon discovered that no man could have been freer in his judicial attitude from any sense of obligation to the administration that had appointed him.

From the beginning he rigidly enforced the rules and precedents of the court in all matter of practice.
His energy and application were immediately recognized as unusual. The powers of Congress, the rights of states and the privileges of citizens were involved in the decisions of the supreme court during the years that Chief Justice Waite presided. It was the second great period of constitutional interpretation. It was a period also when some of the most important corporation cases that ever had been argued in the United States came up, involving intricate questions of interstate commerce.

Chief Justice Waite had a very lofty view of the dignity of his high office. He declined to serve on the electoral commission, and previously he had declared in the most emphatic language that he would not be considered a candidate for President under any circumstances, holding even that it would have been wise
if the Constitution had prohibited a member of the highest tribunal from becoming a candidate for the presidency.

I suffered with stomach and bowel trouble for several years. Had very distressing pains in the pit of the stomach and back and oftentimes running into my heart. Had lost strength and flesh and was feeling all run-down when I consulted Dr. C.

that I am cured, as I can work now without any trouble whatever and my eating does not distress me.

States, passed his 57th birthday anniversary today behind the gray
walls of the Massachusetts state prison at Charlestown. As a youth in his teens, Pomeroy was sent to prison to serve a life term for the diabolical murder of little children.

The sentence of the court called for "solitary confinement," and so strictly has the order been enforced that during the forty years that Pomeroy has been behind the

EXPORT SALES LIST PRICE OF WHEAT

Market Closes Strong at 1/2 to 3/4 Cents Higher—Corn and Oats Show Gain.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Fairly large export sales and a positive assertion that President Wilson would communicate to congress a disapproval of any embargo on foodstuffs were responsible in the main for an uplift today in the value of wheat. The market closed strong 1/2 to 3/4c net higher with December at $1.85 and May at $1.75. Corn gained 1/4c to 1/2c and oats 1/4c to 1/2c. In provisions the outcome ranged from the decline to a rise of 12 1/2c advance.

Only moderate deliveries are expected on December contracts Friday. The liquidation of the December option continued today and sent the discount for December to 9c under May the widest so far this season. Corn rose with wheat beside there were shipping sales of 100,000 bushels notwithstanding railroad embargoes. Scantiness of rural offerings tended also to give the market a lift. Oats merely reflected the changes in other cereals. Shorts seemed to take to cover with unusual readiness.

Provisions were depressed by a severe break in the price of hogs. Belgian relief purchase however, acted later as something of an offset.

TRADING OF A MORE CONFIDENT CHARACTER

United States Steel Holds Its Usual Place as Market Leader.

New York, Nov. 29.—Much of the pessimism created by the activity of the federal reserve board seemed to have dissipated itself today although international issues of the class referred to by the board remained under a cloud. The movement in the general securities list was broader with trading of a more confident character. United States Steel held its usual place as market leader. Munitions and equipments were under intermittent pressure. Total sales amounted to 1,265,000 shares. Rock Island debentures and Child Copper 7s were the only strong feature of an otherwise stable bond market with new low records for United Kingdom 4s and Paris 6s. Total sales par value $5,135,000. United States coupon 4s were 1/2 percent lower on bid.

A Happy Thanksgiving

(A Story for the Day)

"Papa, won't you please take us
to Uncle Henry's for Thanksgiving
this year?"

"Why, children, it's a hundred miles. Yes, but a train starts at six and gets to the station at ten and Uncle Henry wouldn't mind driving a few miles for us even if it is late."

This request was made by Susie
and Charley, the children of George Harber, a well-to-do merchant who made much of Thanksgiving. His brother Henry owned a large farm
and was blessed with three lovely little daughters very dear to the city
cousins who especially enjoyed a visit on the big farm and so it was finally decided that the trip would be made and in due time all started away with high hopes of a good time. The train went along on time until something more than half way to the station when it stopped and soon
the conductor appeared with a grave face saying there was a freight wreck ahead and it might take some hours
to get it cleared and as it was so late he hardly supposed it would be possible to send a train from the other side to which the passengers on his train could transfer.

Susie and Charley were inconsolable and their parents tried in vain to quiet them and hold out the hope that they might get away but investigation by Mr. Harber showed they were doubtless in for a long wait. The night was very dark but not stormy and a short distance from the train a light in a farm house was seen and Mr. Harber decided to investigate and returning said while the house was small a very pleasant lady and her two sons lived there and offered to make them welcome as comfortable as possible so the decision was to go there and stay and the conductor agreed to call them in the time when the track was clear.

The children went with tearful eyes but managed to get calmed by the time the house was reached. Altho there were indications of poverty
there was an air of genuine refinement in the place which could not be overlooked and soon all were made comfortable and assured of a hearty welcome. As Mrs. Harber recovered her hat the hostess, Mrs. Johnson, eyed her closely and finally remarked:

"You look enough like a school-mate of mine to be her sister."

"What was her name?"

"Margaret Harbert."

"Julia Simmons, is this you?"

"Margaret! Margaret!" and the two ladies were clasped in a long and affectionate embrace.

"And pray tell me how, when and by what means you landed here. I thought you had gone to Minnesota
when your father left the city."

"We did, and there I met Luke Johnson, as noble a man as ever lived. We did finally for years till his health failed and he expended nearly all we had seeking some place which could be for his improvement. His father had left him this small place
and finally his physician advised him to try farming, a last resort, as our two boys were large enough to be of much assistance but it was of no avail and a year ago he passed away
and were it not for my brave boys, Luke and Howard, I hardly know
what I should do."

Tears filled the eyes of both ladies and no one spoke for a few moments but finally the subject was changed and a pleasant time enjoyed till Mr. Harber declared they should retire in order to get what sleep they could. All were made as comfortable as possible, the two ladies and Susie occupying one room while Mr.
Harber and Charley shared the room
of the boys.

As a matter of course the reunited friends didn't do much sleeping that night but spent the greater part of the time talking over the days of long ago and both were thankful indeed for the meeting even if it did involve some hardship. Just at daylight the brakeman knocked at the door and said the track would be clear in an hour and then all was hurry and bustle. Mr. and Mrs.

Harber had a private conference and then Mrs. Harber marched into the kitchen where the morning meal was being prepared and announced that she had a plan and like the laws of the Medes and Persians it couldn't be changed.

"And what is this wonderful plan?" asked Mrs. Johnson.

"You and the boys are to accompany us to Brother Henry's."

"Why, I couldn't think of it. We are total strangers to them and besides we haven't suitable clothes."

"We have fully discussed the matter and must absolutely insist on our decision as there is no appeal to a higher court," said Mrs. Harber with mock gravity.

The plan was proposed to Luke and Howard who hesitated but not so decidedly as their mother but finally they were won over and in due time all set to dress for the journey.

Mr. Harber explained to the conductor and arranged to get tickets at the next station and they went, a merry party in spite of the untoward incident. At the end of the journey Uncle Henry was in waiting as he had gone to a hotel the night before leaving orders to be called in time. His brother quickly drew him aside and as briefly as possible explained the situation.

"Of course, they will be most cordially welcome," was the generous response and then the two men suggested that they renew the memories of youth so the surrey was left in the livery stable and a big farm wagon secured and into it a lot of straw was put and away went the party with peals of laughter and the Mrs. Harber's dress was somewhat wrinkled and all except the children were a bit stiff sitting Turkish fashion, still all insisted it was the jolliest ride they had enjoyed for years.

Arriving at the house they found Aunt Mary anxiously awaiting them
her husband had telephoned her regarding the situation and assured her no one was hurt and before they left the railroad station he had also communicated the news of the additional visitors so a kindly greeting awaited them in spite of Mrs. Johnson's explanations and hesitation regarding the visit.

The men and boys spent the forenoon very pleasantly looking over the place the Uncle Henry was in rather bad humor over the fact that during the past three months five or six men whom he had employed had unaccountably left him. He took pains to show his fine Holstein cattle and was astonished at the familiarity with which Luke discussed the breed and the manner of caring for them, and was equally amazed at the knowledge Howard displayed when they came to registered Poland-China hogs.

"How in the world did you boys ever learn so much of live stock?"
he asked.

"Father began something in that line and took great pains to teach us and we studied hard while he was with us and we had a small start in the stock of both kinds and just as we were ready to do something with it he was taken from us."

Before dinner the two brothers had a quiet conference and something like the following ensued:

"Now, Henry, they are just what you need. Your tenant house is vacant and your boys, you know, are all girls, and see what they may do for them and what they may do for you."

"I'll think about it."

"Oh come, say yes right now;
you'll never regret it."

"But I must consult Mary."

"Let's do it now," and it was done and the result was Mrs. Johnson and her boys only went back to the little place to get their things and all implicated declared it was the happiest Thanksgiving of their lives and when Henry Harber took a number of blue ribbons on his cattle and hogs he declared that the Thanksgiving day which brought him the Johnson family was the most fortunate he had ever known.
